

All Hail Caesar!

The Forum Shops Are A Retail Kingdom

The Forum Shops at Caesars transports visitors to another time.

Experience an atmosphere of Roman architecture, statues, fountains, exquisite Italian dining and shopping—all without leaving the United States. The Forum Shops at Caesars Palace offers a glimpse of old Rome right here in Las Vegas.

Offering more than 100 top-name stores, it is understandable how someone can spend hours shopping. But be cautious, a feeling of disorientation might occur upon leaving the shops, because the ceiling is painted like the sky and changes from day to night. So, if you're not careful and lose track of time, it might be a surprise when you leave to discover it is really dark outside.

It can be hard not to get lost in the splendors that are re-created for entertainment and enjoyment. Located near the entrance to The Forum Shops, the Fountain of the Gods offers a relaxing environment for all to enjoy. At the Festival Fountain, the mythological gods Bacchus, Apollo, Venus and Plutos come alive with animatronics before your eyes every day on the hour.

And just when you think you've seen it all, guests can turn the corner to enter Atlantis. Roman decadence is accompanied by a variety of tropical fish and a battle for the mythic city of Atlantis at the Fall of Atlantis Fountain. The show takes place every day on the hour and features an amazing light show complete with a fire-breathing dragon.

Five hundred fish from over 100 species, including sharks and rays, lurk in the waters of the Atlantis Aquarium. To find out more about these exotic fish, a free below-the-scenes tour of the facilities that support the aquarium is available to the public Monday through Friday at 1:15 p.m. and 5:15 p.m.

Guests can watch divers feed the fish at 3:15 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. Monday through Friday. There is no cost to watch the feeding.

For the ultimate shopping adventure into the past and present, check out The Forum Shops at Caesars, located on the Las Vegas Strip.

—Kimberly Horg